

THE CAUCASIAN.

Entered according to Post Office Laws at Clinton, N. C., as second class matter.

CLINTON, N. C., JULY 31, 1890.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

For Congress—3rd District, BENJAMIN F. GRADY.

For Judge—6th District, EDWIN T. BOYKIN.

For Solicitor—6th District, OLIVER H. ALLEN.

CONVENTIONS, 1890.

STATE CONVENTION

Is held at Raleigh, on Wednesday, August 20th.

Hurrah for Grady and Vance.

S. B. Alexander has been nominated for Congress in the 6th District by acclamation.

The 1st and 3rd Regiments broke camp Tuesday. The 2nd and 4th Regiments will go into camp next Tuesday.

While we are uncompromisingly opposed to the infamous Force Bill, yet we doubt the propriety of the boycott idea as a retaliatory measure.

If the Wilmington Messenger is not careful it will be classed as a failure at political prophesying—at least in the 3rd congressional district.

The Farmers' Alliance seems to have been the "longest pole" in the first Congressional District. It knocked down the Simmons.—Wil. Star.

The speech of C. B. Aycock in withdrawing from the congressional convention was noble and patriotic and made for him many friends in this section.

A number of men just now are getting a great deal of gratuitous advertising by patriotically withdrawing from contents in which they were already beaten.

Simmons and Kitchen have both withdrawn from the contest for Congress in the 1st district, which insures the nomination of J. M. Newborn by acclamation.

Major McClammy was back in his seat at Washington on last Tuesday and dealt some timely and caustic blows at Czar Reed, which brought down the applause of the House.

If the South and West would drop New York and New England, and join forces for the common good, the problem that now confronts this Government would be solved at once.

The Railroad Commission of Georgia is dearer and more valuable to the people than any other department of our State Government.—J. S. Candler, Solicitor-General Circuit Court, Ga.

The Farmers' Alliance Rally, at Greensboro, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday was a grand success, not less than five thousand being present. A letter to the Dispatch says: "The Alliance men are almost unanimously Democratic and for Vance."

The Wilmington papers do not seem to know very much about the politics of the 3rd Congressional district. The Review says that Grady's nomination was an accident, caused by Greens friends coquetting with Grady's. The Messenger refers to Grady as another "dark horse." Neither one of these statements are correct. Grady was no dark horse. His name was placed before the convention before the convention till nominated. His nomination was no accident, but was the logical result of the situation. Aycock withdrew on the 17th ballot, and every one knew that then the crisis had come. So there was no coquetting but every ballot was cast in earnest, for it was a certainty that a nomination would be made on that ballot. He received 32 more than was necessary to a choice.

Chapter one: Weak, tired, no appetite.
Chapter two: Took Hood's Sarsaparilla.
Chapter three: Strong, cheerful, hungry.

OUR NOMINEE.

The following is a condensed biographical sketch of Hon. B. F. Grady, the nominee of the congressional convention at Clinton:—

He was born, Albertson township, Duplin county in 1831, raised on a farm and attended school a few months in winter. Prepared by Rev. J. M. Sprunt, Kenansville for College, entered University N. C., 1853, graduated 1857 in class of Judge Avery, Major Robt. Bingham, John W. Graham, Esq., Col. T. S. Kenan, Rev. J. L. Stewart &c., with highest honors. Taught then two years in Kenansville in partnership with Rev. Mr. Sprunt. In 1859 was elected Prof. Math. and Nat. Sciences in Austin College then located in Huntsville, Texas. Filled that chair with eminent ability till the war broke out, when he patriotically shouldered his musket and served faithfully in the Trans-Mississippi Department till captured and lodged in camp Butler near Springfield, Illinois. Exchanged April 1863, was sent to Bragg's army at Tullahoma, Tenn., in which he served till close of war in the Division commanded by Major Gen. Patrick R. Cleburne. He was wounded twice in the charge made by his command on the enemy's works at Franklin, Tenn.

At close of war, finding himself in N. C., he chose to remain here teaching school at Clinton, Sampson county and other places, until he commenced farming in 1877, in 1879 removed from Clinton to his old home in Duplin where he now resides. He has married twice, 1st in Texas, where his wife died 1863, leaving a son, who now practices law in Waco, Texas; 2nd in Clinton 1870, to the oldest daughter of the esteemed late Dr. H. A. Bizzell, who is now the mother of 9 living children.

He was elected County Supt. Public Instruction of Duplin in 1881 and held the office for seven years. In connection with farming he carries on an industrial school, permitting young persons of both sexes to pay all or a part of the cost of their board and tuition by manual labor.

He has always been a student, seeking information on all questions of human interest. He is today one of the brainiest and best posted men in the State. He will be a power on any committee on which he is placed, and when he measures lances with men who have now national reputations, they will be the first to ask who is Grady and where has he been all his life?

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Adopted by the Congressional Convention at Clinton, July 23d.

The Committee on Resolutions reported the following which was unanimously adopted by the Convention:

1. That we deplore the continuance in power of the sectional Republican party, with its train of evil consequences which have ever marked its sway, with its partisan and sectional legislation, its ruinous financial policy and its unjust and iniquitous tariff laws, and pledge our united efforts to drive it from power.
2. That we favor equal and exact justice to all men, and we deplore the fact that the Republican party has been, during its entire course under the control and influence of the moneyed classes of the North and always responsive to their demands, and against the interests of the great body of the people both North and South—maintaining its influence by the most barefaced fraud and bribery.
3. That we favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver.
4. That we favor the removing of the Federal tax on State Bank circulation.
5. That we favor a change in the principle and amount of taxation; a change that will lower taxes on only to a revenue basis, but even lower, and make up any deficiency in revenue by a graduated income tax; in other words we demand a system of taxation that will not bear more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich, but which will be just to all citizens.
6. That we demand that Congress shall pass such laws as shall effectively prevent the speculation on all agricultural and mechanical productions providing a stringent system of procedure in trials as shall secure the prompt conviction, and punishment of all offenders.
7. That we demand the passage of laws prohibiting the alien ownership of land, and that Congress take early steps to devise some plan to obtain all lands now owned by aliens and foreign syndicates; and that all lands now held by railroads and other corporations, in excess of such as are actually used and needed by them, be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only.

8. That Congress issue a sufficient amount of fractional paper currency to facilitate exchange through the medium of the United States mail.

9. That we favor the abolition of the National Banking system and the substitution of a better system; the establishment of a system that will take the control of the money of the country out of the hands of the few; a system that will give us an elastic and flexible currency—one that will contract and expand exactly with the annual products of the country, thereby furnishing a just and fixed measure of their value, and that the Sub-Treasury bill lately introduced in both Houses of Congress comes more nearly effecting this than any other measure yet offered, and that we approve and endorse the purposes and aims thereof.

TRUCKING.

(Special Correspondence.)

Mr. Editor: Have you ever tried trucking? If not, you have missed an experience that makes "life worth living." It is a so-called business that all classes may engage in, for the reason that you need not own a foot of land, a mule, a plow, or a hoe; but the only requisites necessary are large expectations and ready funds. While you know that you are engaging in a legitimate avocation, for trucking bears the same relation to farming that buying futures in a bucket shop does to a regular commission business. But it is so interesting, fascinating and exasperating that once caught in the whirl, there is no letting go. You know there is a hundred to one chance against you, and this makes you try the cast; for you are heroically leading a forlorn hope against the yankees, with the slight difference of feeding instead of killing them. Be patient and you will find yourself wishing your truck had killed them.

After Christmas you will find your pocket-book so depleted that you naturally look around for something to make up the deficit, and like a gambler "look for money where you lost it." During the holiday evening while your wife is looking at (for the fifth time) the Christmas cards and Brie-a-Rac sent her, you have your nose in a highly colored seed catalogue where you find potatoes represented as big as the baby's head, pea-vines with pods thicker than the hair on the forehead, and wax-beans with snaps a foot long.

You order these "sub-rosa" to get ahead of your neighbor, but find later that he has done the same thing to get ahead of you. Seeing others planting, you rush around, hire your patch plowed, get your own real pea bags, show them yourself until you are sure that your back is broken, then pay a negro double price to finish the job while you sit down and proceed to raise a blister, as big as a nickel, cutting potatoes. When your peas are up and growing finely it is time to look for the cold wave, which arrives on time to cook your peas and profits. Treading close on the heels of the freeze is the "Job's comforter," who meets you with a broad smile, and the salutation, "Colonel, how are your peas?" Dead! "Yes, I saw they were, and I think the freeze got your potatoes, too." You wish him in a warmer climate and pass on to hurry to your patch to see for yourself. But the weather has been kinder than his wishes, for you get a stand on two-thirds of your patch, but a strip through the center is a Sahara with potato oases here and there. With peas gone and potatoes only moderate, you make up the deficiency with beans, for you have heard of the "bean eating yankee" and you determine to feed him.

Great minds run in the same channel and you find that the trucking fraternity have great minds and the consequence is "some beans."

Crops planted and worked out are relieved for a time of the aggr, who the moment the job is fished will hunt you up, (hide where you may,) asking for "that little change, Boss." I believe, on my soul, that the negro calls it "that little change"—be the amount five cents or five dollars—on purpose to flatter you. It is suggestive that you are a bloated trucker and that five dollars every day or so is but a trifle out of your immense store. At this season the trucker reaps his crop of stencils and postals, that is always abundant, but blesses him who gives more than him who takes. Finding your crop will be potatoes and beans the generous stencil donor predicts high prices, as the crop is cut off down South. How sorry you are for the Southern trucker while you thank the predictor of its high prices for stencils and postals.

When your potatoes are about the size of marbles—you know for you grabble every day to keep posted and brag—you are tantalized by getting quotations of potatoes at eight to nine dollars per barrel, and are kept on the ragged edge for two weeks, potatoes remaining quite steady. Some trucker, unable to stand the strain longer, cuts the "Gordian knot" and digs—and the rest follow suit. You get barrels, cut the sides, call your potatoes to get enough large ones to cover the side holes and top, fess, fume, fret, sweat, and mash your thumb off heading them up and you are ready to ship. But, where? In deciding that question, you will be aided by a throng of sub-agents who will show their truthful telegraphic messages of "Holy Writ" and din in your ears the merits of their respective houses. As the whole thing is gambling, you select at a venture and "let her go, Gallagher." For the next week you are like the holder of a lottery ticket, expecting $15,000 at the drawing. You attend promptly at mail hour and after several disappointments the longed-for letter is put in your box. On opening it you find prices of potato—like Governor Vance's catfish—have "swunk" to about one-third of the quotation size. They were larger and finer than the seed, but as they were not as large as pictured in catalogue, they passed as "seconds, badly culled." Pens a total loss, and no profit in potatoes, your only reliance is on beans, which are now yellowing on the hill. Your first shipment of bushel boxes brings as much per box as a barrel of potatoes. Great Scott! You are carried by such a cyclone to the skies; you have at last reached that flood tide that is to bear you on to fortune, and found that honest produce men long have been sought. You rush home, kiss the baby, dance round your wife, promise her a summer trip on bean money, and wonder why everybody don't go into beans, when there are fools to pay three dollars for a bushel of snaps.

On your next shipment you are convinced that everybody is in the bean business by the amount going, but fervently wishing that the bean eaters are yet alive, you push them off rapidly. While prices are not to the high water mark of the first, the mail brings you notice of sales at good prices, and you feel that earthly life is a boon for which you have not been sufficiently thankful. But it is too good to pass and some mail hour brings you neither letter nor check. So unusual an incident causes you to ask the postmaster if there is anything the matter with the Northern mail. No news for several days, other truckers get none, and patience worn out, you write. Your stock of postals are handy now and you will need them all. For you will get no sales or checks until the price has touched bottom, write as much as you may. Having had some experience I have used the following letter—after the socratic style—which I have found more effective than any other and as there is no copy right on it all can use it that wish:

Gents: I shipped June — boxes beans. Were they received? If so, are they sold? If not, why do you hold them? If sold, am I not entitled to net proceeds? If not, why not?

Yours, &c.,

Ninety per cent of the people of Georgia are in sympathy with the commission, its objects and aims, and any man who would seek to injure it would get but one Legislative opportunity.

Instead of bringing or tending to bring on the evils of social negro equality, it has effectively erected barriers to it in railroad travel that can never be broken down or "burned away." The negroes ride in separate cars furnished for them by order of the railroad commission.—J. S. Candler, Solicitor-General Circuit Court, Ga.

Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, sick headache is frequent, the appetite is lost, and other ailments beset the sufferer. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies and vitalizes the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Headache, after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms.

Distress After Eating

Attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the source of the distress, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat I could not digest. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAOR, Watertown, Mass.

Educational Institute to be held at Clinton—Public Speaking.

Superintendent S. M. Finger sends us an extended notice for publication from which we abstract the following:

Prof. J. Y. Joyner will, during the week beginning August 18th, 1890, hold an Institute in Clinton, N. C. This is not for teachers only, but for the people as well. Its efficiency, therefore, will depend largely upon whether or not the people attend. Let as many as possible attend the daily exercises.

Friday of that week will be devoted to special exercises that will be of interest and profit to all who will attend. Addresses will, on that day, be made by Prof. J. Y. Joyner and others, which will do much good to the cause of education if the people will do as they are bidden.

Maj. Finger in his circular compares our Public School System with Virginia's and comments on the insufficiency of the public school funds in our State. The object of the Institute is to call the people's attention to this matter and to awaken new interest in Public education and to increase the school fund by more taxation.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

Character's Corner-Stone.

On last Sabbath, in the Presbyterian Church of Clinton, Dr. B. F. Marable preached a timely, practical, forcible and telling sermon that went home to every member of the large congregation. Text—Luke vi, 45-49. Subject—Character's Corner-Stone.

He said the character of men may be likened unto the houses mentioned in the text, one built upon a solid foundation, the other upon the sand. A house may be ever so artistically decorated, strongly built, beautifully furnished and handsomely furnished, but if its foundation is not firm and solid then that house is not safe and no wise man would purchase it or live in it. On the other hand a house less pretentious in appearance, not so costly, and even unfinished, built right from the beginning with an honest, solid foundation, would be more valuable and desirable. It could be finished at leisure and with impunity and resided in with perfect safety. So every human character, that is true and firm and on which we can rely on with safety, must have first and above all things a solid foundation.

TRUTH THE CORNER-STONE.

What is the most important element of this solid foundation, and what is the corner-stone of this foundation? It is TRUTH! Yes, truth is the basic element of character, take that away and the whole fabric of character becomes unsteady, diseased, rotten and worthless. It is the heaven that leaveneth the whole lump, without it character sours and spoils. Again, character may be likened unto the human system. Here is the body, what a wonderful piece of work, with its bones, muscles, nerves, skin and flesh! How symmetrical, beautiful and complete! But! Is it complete? What is the body with these elements alone? There is no life! There is nothing. What is the corner-stone, the basic element of life, the leaven that leaveneth the whole body? It is the blood. Without it the character totters and falls; the body sours and spoils. But even this blood, the life giving and life sustaining element, may become impure. You inject a certain amount of poison into the blood and just to that extent the whole system, bones, tissue, muscles and nerves is poisoned and diseased. You inject more and more poison and the blood is neutralized and overcome and the whole system collapses on its miry foundation. Just so when falsehood is mixed with truth, the foundation begins to crumble and the whole fabric totters and is unsafe. Alas for the corruption of truth and its rarity undelivered. It is all around us and we are met with it in every station, in every walk and phase of human life. How many of the brightest minds, how many characters, otherwise good, are to-day reeling over a poisoned, crumbling and rotten foundation? Who is to blame for this? How and when does it happen? In some cases it comes by heredity.

Many a child is born with this taint, this poison in his blood, transmitted by heredity. Such cases are almost hopeless. Proper education, moral influences and an effort to lead a christian life are the best antidotes for the malady. It is often generated and instilled in

THE FAMILY CIRCLE.

The child looks upon its parents as being perfect, as infallible, as incapable of doing wrong. This sentiment, this belief, this faith in the infallibility of the parent often follows the child into manhood and womanhood and all through life. The parent makes the child a promise either for pleasure or for pain, then forgets or fails to redeem the promise. Does the child forget? No. The promise and its fulfillment sink deep into the child's being and make a lasting impression. What is the effect, is the child's faith in the infallibility of the parent destroyed? Not at all. It simply begins to compound truth and falsehood. The great barrier that stands between the two to measure the differences between light and darkness begins to crumble and in the twilight of mingled truth and falsehood pervades the child's whole being. The situation then is this, the parent has dealt in falsehood, therefore falsehood is no crime and diffuses but little from truth. Oh what a grievous error of that parent and how shocked he or she would be to know the poison that had been instilled into the dearest creature on earth by such thoughtlessness and carelessness! The defaulting bank presidents and cashiers and much of the deception, wickedness and crime, that demoralize the commercial world and shock the public morals of to-day are no doubt due to similar false teaching in childhood. Parents, stop and think; you know not what you do. Be careful of the promises you make your children, but when once made, however large or small, whether of reward or punishment, redeem at all hazards those promises, every one.

IN SOCIAL LIFE

We see the same deception, the same thoughtless blending of falsehood with truth. Visitors make a call, the hostess is all smiles and affability. She follows the parting guests to the door, with a gracious good-bye, and a warm press of the hand, and assures them of the honor and pleasure they have conferred and contributed and begs that the same pleasure be soon repeated with a longer visit. The good woman goes within and with an air of relief and disgust, declares that she was bored to death and hopes that those visitors may never come around again. The child sits, listens and says nothing, but what are its thoughts? Mother is the very essence of perfection, she has done nothing wrong, therefore deception is not wrong; and also here is being laid the false foundation of a false character—a life of deception, a life worse than a failure.

IN THE COMMERCIAL WORLD.

Here we see the dangerous and terrible fruits of the thoughtless promises of the home life and the supposed to be harmless and necessary flatteries and amenities of social life. The boy becomes a man, is careless of his promises in business matters and thinks it necessary to deal in flattery and deception to succeed with men. So he drifts out into life and is sooner or later placed in the world's catalogue as a double-faced and unreliable man. There is a large class of this kind of men, but differing in the degree of deception. One man, A, is notoriously known to be unreliable. He goes to B and asks for a loan of one hundred dollars. B says that he is sorry that he is unable to accommodate him but has not the money, while at the same time he has one thousand dollars in his pocket, now B is known to the world as an honest man, meets all his obligations, but he tells a lie and does it because he is facing a liar. Both of these men are poisoned with deception, it is a difference in degree and not in kind. If A had offered to give B a mortgage (that blighting curse of the commercial world) then B would have been no deception but would gladly furnish the money; and here we can see the philosophy of the mortgage. If truth were in men—if the corner-stone to character was not missing the mortgage would yet be unborn. You trust a man in a business transaction, he fails to keep his word, you attempt to force him to do so by the law, he jumps behind the boom-proof bankruptcy act and homestead law and laughs at justice. Hence when the existence of the corner-stone of truth is doubted in a character, we turn to the mortgage as an engine force him to act the truth. Oh what a sad commentary on character, morality and christianity is the mortgage indebtedness of this world.

IN THE POLITICAL ARENA.

Here we see the same early influences resulting in the same diseased character, bearing alike calamitous fruit. How often do we see men who have been honored and trusted by their people and exalted to high positions deal in trickery and chicanery to accomplish a purpose, how often do we see them betray the trust and confidence of the people for selfish purposes, how often do we hear them stand on the hustings and attempt to deceive the people with false statements and demagoguery. Such men are unsafe and dangerous. The foundation of their character is the quick sands of deception and the mire of treachery. The whole foundation is bad, the corner-stone of truth is not there. There is a large class of so-called politicians who are not so bad in actions as the above class, but yet who are tainted with the same poison of deception to a greater or less degree. One wishes to be a candidate for an office. He takes occasion and finds frequent opportunities to say that he has been requested and urged by many of his friends to allow his name to be used,—that he had not thought about the matter himself, but that his friends insisted so that he would try to arrange his business so that he could accept, while at that very time no man had ever requested him to run for the office and probably no one, or at least a very few, thought him fit or competent for it. The basic element of truth is wanting in both of these characters, and under the same circumstances the latter is incapable of acting as disgracefully as the former. It is fortunate that our country is not governed entirely by such, else it had gone to ruin long ago. Thanks to high that there are a few of God's noblemen in political life (though almost as scarce as black pigeons) who are incorruptible, who stand up and battle for the right. Their characters are based on the corner-stone of truth and they stand to-day as the anchors to our national safety.

And so we might continue through every phase of human life and at every turn we are met with the same appalling condition. Yes, the world is wrapped in deception and weltering in crime, yes, the world is sick and diseased from the poison of falsehood. We talk of hard times and the depressed condition of the country and lay it to bad crops and many similar causes, but there is no more potent cause of this and all other evils than man's lying and inhumanity to man. May He who made us, rescue this country from the demon's meshes of falsehood and save our souls by opening our eyes and turning our hearts to a guide—to Him, Jesus Christ, the way, the light and the TRUTH.

We do not see why the churches and Sunday schools and prayer meetings and class meetings should be closed during the long hot summer days. The Devil never closes up his places of business and sin and stops work during that time. He is in fact more active and more persuasive if possible in the dog days than in the cold winter months when families remain at home and hug the fires.—Wilmington Messenger.

MINING.

Died in Mingo township, Sampson county on the 24th inst. Mr. Laura J. Jernigan, aged about 21 years. Wife of G. W. Jernigan.

J. W. Draughton got seriously hurt a few days ago, by getting his arm caught between the wheel and band of a saw mill while it was running, and came very near being thrown on the teeth of saw while running.

J. H. D.

Died, on the 23rd, July, little Ida Frances, only daughter of J. C. and L. F. Warren.

Mr. editor please allow me a short space in your paper to ask the old lady who turned a cup in Mingo a few weeks ago, to turn at least one more and give us a full explanation of the R. R. from Burgaw to Dunn. Is it to be built, and are we all going to have a depot at our doors? Please let us hear from you "old cup turner."

LITTLE COHARIE.

Marion Butler, County Lecturer, will deliver an address before Coharie Lodge, No. 654, on Friday, at ten o'clock, the 16th of August.

Misses Georgia Porter and Jimmie McPhail are visiting friends and relatives in and around Owensville.

Miss Julia Maderwood who has been visiting at Mr. T. N. Culbreth's returned home last week.

Mr. W. M. Bullard who has been visiting friends and relatives in Cumberland returned home last Thursday.

Miss Katie Fisher of Trinity is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher of Owensville.

Mrs. Jane Cade, of Cumberland is visiting friends and relatives in Sampson.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson Parker of Trinity College, N. C., are visiting friends and relatives in this section.

One of the military boys from this township brought his gun home to practice target shooting at Wrightsville at the encampment. And one evening he was out on the west side of Little Coharie practicing, when a farmer on the east side of Coharie heard the shooting and thought the Indians had broke over and had come down in Sampson, and so he got his old war pistol that he calls "Beeman" and started through the thicket towards the creek to see if he could find out what it meant. Now what do you suppose he thought he could do with a pistol, shooting against a man with a Springfield rifle that could hit a man with two hundred yards every time he shot.

There is a young man in this section that went to call on two young ladies a few nights since and he left his walking mane for an excuse to go again, and he has been every other night since then and some time twice a day and has not got his cane yet. He still leaves it for an excuse.

SEA WEED.

Mr. Editor: We think that we are entitled to a candidate from Westbrooks this time, as we have never asked for any office before. We have some good material and will ask the voters of Sampson county to give the nomination for Register of Deeds to Mr. J. C. Parker, of this township, a man that is well qualified to fill the office in every respect. Westbrook has never had any office in the gift of the people and will urge her claims; so much for our claims; as to the Senator,

*****

We are pleased with the candidate for Congress and will give him a party support. Hurrah for Grady!

Crops are looking well in this section at this time.

For fear I may weary the readers of your valuable and highly esteemed paper, I stop. A FARMER.

Blackman's Mills, July 28, '90.

Died, Mrs. Julia McLamb, aged about 55 years, wife of C. H. McLamb, Esq., on Thursday evening at 9 o'clock of typhoid fever. She was fleshy, the very picture of health and was sick only about 11 days. She leaves her husband and two children, a son and daughter to mourn the loss of a good wife and mother. Mrs. McLamb was a daughter of Mr. James Britt, Sr., and was highly respected by all who knew her.

HONEYCUTTS.

We are very glad to see the crops so fine in this township.

How would Mr. John H. Parker do for Sheriff?

Mr. Marion Butler made an excellent chairman of the Congressional Convention. We hear the manner in which he presided over that body complimented on all sides.

Nearly every one I see says "heh" is going to see the ocean next Tuesday.

SEA FOWL.

The colored people of this township opened an independent school on the 14th, which has reached as high as 60 pupils. The prospect is that there will be more. The school is being taught by O. D. Holmes.

Salem Sunday school and Salem Alliance will have a joint picnic at the church on Friday, the first day of August. Mr. Marion Butler is the invited speaker for the Alliance and Messrs. F. R. Cooper and Capt. J. L. Autry are invited to make addresses for the Sunday school. The Masons of this lodge are also expected to assist in the preparations for the occasion.

Miss Mamie Lou Royall has left the neighborhood to assist her brother, Mr. V. A. Royall in his school near Faison's.

SOUTH CLINTON.

Mr. J. A. Killett left Tuesday, July 29th, to spend a month at the White Sulphur Springs, near Mount Airy.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Mrs. W. S. Johnson died on last Sunday.

Recent rains have done much good to crops in this section, which are generally good.

Mr. Wm. K. Chesnut of this township, is still wearing a pair of boots that he had made eleven years ago. He killed the calf and tanned the hide himself of which the boots are made.

NEWTON GROVE.

Pleanty of rain in this section for the past two weeks.

Miss Mary Williams, who has been spending several weeks with Miss Berta Hobbs and other friends, in Halls, returned last Friday, accompanied by Miss Berta and Mr. Luther Hobbs.

Quite a crowd of the Newton Grove young people attended the debate and picnic at Wentworth last Saturday, which was enjoyed very much, although a very disagreeable day.

Mr. Louis Boykin is holding a singing school at Newton Grove and at Canaan, this week and next. It is quite advisable for all those wishing to sing to attend.

Miss Bettie West left Friday to take charge of a school at River Side in Cumberland county. May she meet with grand success.

CLINTON, N. C., JULY 31, 1890.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Last Thursday morning in company with delegates, D. B. Nicholson, T. L. Pugh and J. A. Fort, and Mr. and Mrs. Rawls as visitors from Clinton circuit, and Rev. J. E. Bristowe, A. A. Lewis and wife, J. D. O. Culbreth and S. L. Jackson from Sampson circuit, we boarded the train at Clinton for Magnolia the place for holding the District Conference. At War-saw we were joined by Rev. J. F. Abernathy from Mt. Olive circuit Newbern District. In a very few minutes we were in Magnolia. We were met at the depot by the committee of arrangements and assigned to our homes.

was called to order by Rev. F. D. Swindell, P. E. Rev. J. L. Keen from Scotts Hill circuit was elected secretary. I believe brother Keen is a natural born secretary. He has been the secretary of every District Conference he has ever attended and makes a good one too. Brother Swindell made a short speech to the conference outlining the work of the conference laying much stress on the spiritual part of it. After which Rev. J. R. Sawyer preached the opening sermon which was short and good. The MISSIONARY TERRITORY in the District was discussed at length. New River Mission is a very important field of Missionary territory promising us good results in the near future. In discussing the merits of this field it was shown that the people were anxious to have preaching and that large congregations always came out no matter what kind of weather they had. A vast area of territory in Duplin, Pender and Onslow counties have no Methodist preaching and but little else than the most ignorant and egotistic Hardshism. Revs. H. Cole and J. R. Sawyer, Colon Shaw (Presbyterian) and others made speeches in regard to this Missionary field all strongly attesting the necessity for giving them the Gospel as we teach it and believe the Bible to teach. A resolution was passed asking Conference to send two Missionaries to this field. The Missionary territory in the city of WILMINGTON was discussed at length. We have two missionary openings in Wilmington at one of which an organization has been effected and a prosperous Sunday School in each of these fields is now telling for good. It is desired very much that a pastor shall be sent to serve these two fields this year. Bladen St. Church is now compelled to build a new church, they have secured a nice lot and in order to build they will be obliged to receive help. This is an important place and must be helped. We must have a new church there. The general

SPRITUAL CONDITION of the District was shown to be on the increase. We have had no great ingatherings but a growth in knowledge and grace. There has been a greater need for preaching and teaching in the past few years than for ingathering revivals. Our people are largely in the church and now they need to be instructed in the way of life. There were many hindrances to the success of the Gospel mentioned as prevalent in a greater or less degree such as worldliness, dram drinking, want of religious papers, ignorance, indifference, covetousness etc. The condition of the SUNDAY SCHOOLS was shown to be prosperous and healthy. In some places, however, there is great need of good and well qualified teachers. The Sunday School is in great need of well qualified teachers of the Bible and its doctrines. Our schools and colleges ought to give special training to their pupils to fit them for Sunday School teachers. To us it appears that the lack of well qualified teachers is perhaps the greatest drawback to our schools. If we had such teachers as could interest their pupils our schools would not dwindle and drag and go into winter quarters and summer vacations as many of them do now. The FINANCIAL REPORTS showed that the District was in a hopeful condition. Slowly we are waking to our duty in paying to the Lord what we owe Him. The assessment plan for raising the Pastor's salary is adopted by nearly every church in the District, there are a few exceptions to this rule. Various plans for raising missionary and other collection are adopted. Clinton circuit is trying the assessment plan for these collections also. We can see no reason why a plan that is successful in raising the Pastor and Presiding Elder's salary, should not be successful in raising other claims of the church. There ought to be uniformity in these matters if possible and we ought to have the best plans adopted. The following were was pronounced very good all round. Brethren Ashby, Sawyer Smith, Beem, Beaman, Cressy, Perkins and Bristowe preached. We did not hear any but Sawyer, Smith, and Beaman. The first has been mentioned above. Bro. Smith made a fine impression upon the congregation and his sermon was well received. Brother Beaman's sermon was deep and profound in thought and couched in chaste and beautiful language, and delivered in deep rich tones, and received many well deserved compliments. A prominent hour Saturday morning was given the subject of Education, Prof. Dred Peacock represented G. F. College in a well timed fifteen minute speech. Prof. Vassy and Rev. B. R. Hall, a trustee, each made a speech for Trinity College. The outlook for our College is very hopeful indeed. And yet there is one sad fact that all our Methodists do not patronize our College. When will Methodists be loyal? A conference was never more ROYALLY ENTERTAINED than were we in Magnolia. We know not what reputation it may have had hitherto, but certain it is it will be noted for its hospitality hereafter. Jokes and pleasant were interspersed with chickens and other good things and we all felt that "it was good to be there."—Christian Leader.

JUDGE E. T. BOYKIN.

Judge Boykin is a native of Clinton, Sampson county, and was born on the 27th of December, 1854, and is now only thirty-six years old. He has wrought out his own high position by his own efforts. He paid for his tuition at Trinity College by ringing the bell and sweeping out the college, and did that service even through his senior years. He graduated with high honors. He has held many positions and been singularly honored by his people. He was twice Mayor of Clinton; was three years Chairman of the Democratic Executive committee of Sampson county; was elected to the House of Representatives from Sampson in 1881, and again in 1883. In 1885 he was elected to the State Senate, and was elected President of that body. He was appointed Judge of the Superior court in 1885 to succeed Judge McKoy, and was re-elected in 1886 to fill out the unexpired term. He is an able and learned lawyer and has gained the reputation of an impartial and capable Judge. Quite a young man, he has already made himself an honorable career, and this expression of regard and confidence will inspire him to be even more worthy of the high honor which an appreciative people have bestowed upon him.—State Chronicle.
